

Brown County Severe Storm Spotters Training Course

Wednesday March 2nd, 2016 at 6:00 p.m.

Brown County High School Auditorium

The presenter for this course is Jim Kramper, Warning Coordination Meteorologist (WCM) at the National Weather Service (NWS) Office in St. Louis MO.

This course is sponsored in part by:

Brown County Emergency Management Agency, Brown County Public Health Dept,
National Weather Service, The Brown County High School,
WGEM and, Ameren Illinois

We will also be having a Midland Weather Radio Sales and Programming event at the High School before the presentation. Stop by the booth if you are interested in purchasing a weather radio or would like to have yours checked to see if it is programmed properly.

Also don't forget to stop by the booth and register for a free drawing for a Midland Weather Radio

To become listed in the NWS storm spotter database, you MUST attend a class taught by NWS personnel. The classes are open to everyone, however you must be at least high school age to sign up to be a volunteer storm spotter. You will be given instructions at the class on how to sign up.
